

Interventional Radiology beyond D-day

A glance at the future of interventional radiology from Ghent, for Em. Prof. Dr. Luc Defreyne

Preliminary programme

8h30 Welcome
8h55 Introduction

PART I: The bright future of pelvic IR

- 09h00 Pelvic congestion syndrome – IR or surgery?
(O. d'Archambeau - Antwerp, BE)
- 09h20 Benign pelvic diseases: Prostate and uterus: same skills?
(P. Lohle - Tilburg/Waalwijk, NL)
- 09h40 Cavernous leak embolisation: keep it up.
(P. Vanlangenhove - Ghent, BE)

PART II: Other amazing indications for IR

- 10h00 Peripheral percutaneous ablation – a play of hot and cold.
(D. Desbuquoit - Ghent, BE)
- 10h20 Empiric embolisation of lower GI bleeding – an ally for your night rest.
(L. Hermie - Ghent, BE)
- 10h40 To treat chyleleak or climb a mountain – which one is faster?
(G. Maleux - Leuven, BE)
- 11h00 Burgundy in Flanders: delicious embolic liquids for the future.
(R. Loffroy - Dijon, FR)

11h20 Coffee break

PART III: IR in the medical landscape

- 11h40 Dedicated IR technicians for the future.
(E. Devlieghere - Ghent, BE)
- 12h00 Certification as IR in the Netherlands: a straight story?
(M. Burgmans - Lelden, NL)
- 12h20 Certification as IR: a Belgian vaudeville
(P. Vanhoenacker - Ghent, BE)
- 12h40 IR in the world: what's next?
(J. Goltzarian - Minneapolis, USA)

13h00 Lunch break

PART IV: Liver and far beyond

- 14h00 Benign biliary strictures: still indications for IR?
(E. Dhondt - Ghent, BE)
- 14h20 Liver surgery and transplant – need for IR in the future?
(R. Troisi - Naples, IT)
- 14h40 Radioembolisation far beyond the liver.
(R. Salem - Chicago, USA)

PART V: IR in the brain

- 15h00 Thirty years of Belgian IR neuroradiology: a battle between snipers & tanks.
(P. Goffette - Brussels, BE)
- 15h20 Ischemic stroke treatment – going Dutch or double Dutch?
(W. Van Zwam - Maastricht, NL)
- 15h40 Ischemic stroke treatment – drinking Flemish coffee?
(D. Hermelsoet - Ghent, BE)
- 16h00 Brain arteriovenous malformation: sneaking in through the backdoor?
(L. Spelle - Paris, FR)
- 16h20 Brain tumours – pleading for IR support?
(E. Baert - Ghent, BE)
- 16h40 I just want to have something to do.
(L. Defreyne - Ghent, BE)

17h00 Closing remarks

17h05 Reception

More information to follow soon...

Contact: symposiumIR100623.vinrad@uzgent.be